

SUMMARY Cozzi

In the form of a greeting to the new Archbishop of Milan as a Supreme Moderator, it is here described the history of fifty years' lifetime of the Superior Institute of Religious Sciences, divided up into four periods: the difficulties and enthusiasm at the beginning, between the sixties and the eighties; the outbursting enrollments in view of teaching diplomas for religion in the eighties; the renewal of general ecclesiastical aims, bent on the training of qualified ministers in conveying faith, in the nineties; the present phase of strict relationship and collaboration with the Theological Faculty of Milan. It is establishing, for what regards the Institute theological tasks, the urging confrontation on human beings, in relationship with human and religion sciences.
